Background

The CIM Level 6 Diploma in Sustainable Marketing has been developed following extensive employer-led research across a range of sectors and size of organisation; qualification providers; academics and students.

The qualification

The CIM Level 6 Diploma in Sustainable Marketing is designed to offer progression from all CIM Level 4 qualifications and also links with the Level 6 Diploma in Professional Digital Marketing and Level 6 Diploma in Professional Marketing.

Successful completion of the CIM Level 6 Diploma in Sustainable Marketing will establish the knowledge, skills and understanding to be able to perform at a management level and to carry out an essential and successful professional marketing role within the workplace.

To achieve the CIM Level 6 Diploma in Sustainable Marketing, a pass is required in each of the three modules. The qualification has been structured to reflect the need for a flexible and bitesize approach for today's professional marketer. Each module can be achieved as a distinct, self-contained Award qualification.

Who is it for?

The CIM Level 6 Diploma in Sustainable Marketing is aimed at marketers working in an operational, supervisory or management role who wishes to develop their knowledge and skills around how marketing can lead and support the business in responding to the sustainability challenges we face.

The candidate will typically be working in a managerial or operational role within an organisation concerned with leading the way business responds to sustainability challenges and are keen to drive and effect real change. The organisation may be looking to develop, or already implementing a sustainable response through or using the marketing function as a critical driver.
